

Jadoo Power Systems, Inc. Announces New CFO, Kirk Minami

FOLSOM, CA – April 26, 2005 -- Jadoo Power Systems Inc. (Jadoo), a leading provider of portable fuel cell power systems, announced today that it has named Kirk Minami their new CFO.

Minami most recently served as Vice President of Finance and Administration of OQO, a growing and innovative computer manufacturer based in the bay area. He has more than 16 years experience and leadership in financial, accounting, treasury and other administrative management and has held senior management positions in finance and operations for successful start-up environments.

"Kirk is an experienced financial leader," said Larry Bawden, Jadoo's President and Chief Executive Officer. "His broad financial experience in strategic business planning and infrastructure development will allow Jadoo to move to the next level. We are excited that Kirk has joined the team at Jadoo and are confident he will continue to help advance the company's goals."

Minami commented, "Jadoo is rapidly gaining momentum and recognition as a leader in the portable fuel cell industry. I am truly excited to be part of the Jadoo team and am confident about the positive direction in which the management team is taking the company and that Jadoo will continue to gain momentum."
